

The Great Flat Lode Walk starting at King Edward Mine

The Great Flat Lode Trail is a 7.5-mile circular walk that takes you through breathtaking countryside and past some of Cornwall's most famous, historic mines. The Croust Hut café is in the old assay house for South Condurrow mine (later renamed King Edward in honour of the new King in 1901). There is a free car park and bike racks. The notes below are from Graham Sowell, a Trustee of King Edward Mine.
