Great Economy Deer and Moose Hunts south of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada

American Hunters trekking to Canada for low cost moose, along with big Mule Deer and Whitetail and been pleasantly surprised by the weather and temperatures that they were greeted by when they hunted British Columbia, located in Canada, north of Washington State. Canada should be and is cold but there are exceptions, if you know where to go.

In BC if you stay on the western Side of the Rocky Mountains the weather is quite mild because it is warmed by the Pacific Ocean. If you hunt east of the Rocky Mountains, what I call the Canadian Interior it can be as much as 50 degrees colder depending on the time of the year.

The area has now preference point requirements, the Outfitter has his allotted vouchers so you can get a reasonably priced license and, in most cases, less than you can get for the same animal in the US as a non-resident. You don't even buy the voucher from the Outfitter it is part of his hunt cost because without it you could not get a license anyway.

Travel is easy and the residents are friendly. Like anywhere outside the US you will need a easy to acquire Passport if you don't have one, just don't wait until the last minute to get one for $10 from your local Post office by where you live. The one thing in Canada is if you have a felony on your record Canada will not allow you into their safe Country. Also do not try to take or sneak a pistol into Canada. They are great with issuing you gun permits for hunting rifle(s) which you need. You don't need a Pistol and they won't issue a permit. If you try to sneak one in and get caught, then that will get you in trouble.

Your Gun Permit(s) you can take as many as 2 rifles on a $50 permit. There are a few limitations on type of rifles, barrel length and such which will be detailed when you mail in your requested gun permit information prior to your trip, another thing to plan early, take the rifle(s) and form with you through customs, they will charge you the $50 Us Dollars and you are in. There is no restriction on archery equipment.

For Muzzleloader shooters they are easy to get into Canada. If you fly the black Powder on the plain is a problem with the American FFA. Check with the FAA for flying instruction and you should not have any problems with black powder durring your trip.

In this document and all the documents provided by Discounted Hunts LLC you will find everything is US Dollars, so you don't have to worry about the conversion to Canadian Curacy CAN Dollar. Keep in mind that the US Dollar has a higher value then the CAN Dollar, so it is all to your favor.

With the above you will get in and have a great time hunting Canada.

How about an easy trip to a hidden Mule Deer and Whitetail Deer Mecca where you don't need to mess with preference point, drawing, wait and see if you have a license and all that happy Horse SHIP.

You can easily get there it is just an area that has been hidden under our nose and the deer population is exploding. Welcome to the British Columbia it is a friendly country that opens it door every year to American hunters.

Most hunters in the Pacific west looking for Mule deer plan on a 2-day drive from California to Colorado.

This trip is half the distance and what other states can't offer is no draw Mule Deer licenses. The weather is not like you think of Canada, it is so far south and west of the Rocky Mountain, so in October with a large concession and abundant populations of game animals, success is very high. Seasons overlap to create combination hunts with various big game animals.

We have a fully equipped, private lodge to add to your great hunting experience. Hunting is done by 4x4, spot and stalk glassing large open ranges. Hunting prime rut time is excellent.

You can even shoot a Mule Deer and a Whitetail deer if you want a pair. You can Hunt during the mild October weather or the November Rut which can remind you that you are in Canada.

There are economy hunts and Trophy Hunts and in deer there is one of each for mule deer and whitetail. The main difference is the seasons hunted. The October season is mild, you are fed and stay in the lodge. In the mornings you may walk right out of the lodge to hunt, or ride horseback, or up in a 4-wheel drive pickup. The destination to you is where the deer are. The destination to your guided hunt is where pre-season scouting has proven that a herd of bachelor bucks has taken up residence.

Many people think there is an opportunity for a non-guided hunt without meals and lodging.

It is not possible because of the Canadian laws and countries layout.

The outfitter has an area or a concession that he applies for or renews each year, With that concession he get an allotted number of vouchers to lightly hunt his area, that is how your license is obtained.

As far as meals and lodging are concerned the population of Canada is minimal in comparison to other places that you have hunted in the US. Because of this most of the time where you hunt is far from any restaurants and even farther from any motels. You will be thank-full that your outfitter provides you with a guided, meals and lodging hunt. You would not like to drive 45 minutes to an hour to a motel and something to eat every morning and every night and was precious hours of hunting time or sleeping time that is required to be successful for your hunt.

You are hunting at an altitude of only 1000 feet above sea level, so you are never out of breath. With a short swing of 40 degrees at night up to 80 degrees during the day, temperatures are very enjoyable as well.

All prices are in US Dollars. Prices do not include licenses, tags, or taxes. Currently the exchange rate and the US dollar is a much better situation for the US Dollar than it is for Canada. This is a great time to hunt Canada, and even more so when you hit the deer explosion you are coming to here.

Non-Resident deer license are about $250 which is a good buy in any state or country when you are on the buying end.

The Economy Mule Deer Hunt is light on the pocketbook, enough that you might want to take 2 bucks.

It is a 3-day hunt with an extremely high success rate. The season dates (9/10-11/30) are as generous as the amount of deer property that is available on the outfitters large concession.

Whitetail & Mule Deer Hunting

Going for that Trophy Buck

Our deer camps are in the Wandering River region bordering farm & crown land. Hunts are from either a heated tower stand or ground blinds that are set up in areas that B&C deer frequent. Trophy whitetail and mule deer are best hunted during the rut. Time and effort are put into maintaining our successful hunting areas.

We monitor our hunting areas with strategically placed trail cams which are regularly maintained and monitored. Our objective is to only have 1 hunter per season per stand/blind. This increases the hunter's chance at bagging that big buck.

Moose Hunts

Calling in the Big Bull Moose

Looking for that next adrenaline rush? Our Canadian Moose hunting is the fix. A bull moose during rut will defend his domain against all other bulls trying to challenge him. When calling a moose in, you can hear this monster coming from a distance, grunting while smashing everything in his path. It's enough to make your hair stand on end.

Moose hunting terrain varies, for that reason all our hunting areas are accessed by Argos on tracks or ATV's. We make our hunts as low impact as possible for those that are mature walkers. This mode of transportation provides our hunters access to remote hunting areas with little hunting pressure. Most game in this area has never seen man.

Hunts are based out of the main lodge, however, overnight in an outpost camp may be required to insure that trophy bull moose. If this is the case, we provide either a comfortable cabin or outfitters wall tent with airtight stove.

Black Bear Hunts

Spring Bear Hunting

Spring black bear fur can be thick and soft after hibernation therefore most hunters seek adding a spring bear to their trophy room. Our bear hunts are located on crown land which is accessed by Argo or ATV's. Wandering River hunting area produces many black bears varying in color ranging from black, brown, cinnamon, and blonde.

Hunts are conducted from tree stands that are strategically placed in selected spots within a good shooting range from our baits. We strive to ensure our black bear baits are active. For instance, maintaining a constant food supply at the stands produces an influx of black bears for the hunter to choose from. Our Guides escort hunters to and from the hunting area and tree stand.

Above all, our bait lines are well established also with continuous bait throughout the season ensures our hunters with success. We always provide our hunters an excellent opportunity to harvest a trophy Black Bear. As an extra bonus we have so many bears we are hunting in a 2 bear area.

Coyote

Wiley Coyote Chasing

Forget the antics of Wile E. Coyote chasing the Road Runner, coyotes are not that obtuse. For instance, coyotes are extremely smart animals with keen eyesight and extremely strong sense of smell. In addition, coyotes are more challenging as they are nocturnal making the hunt window open at dusk and dawn. Therefore, harvesting one of these creatures can earn hunters a badge of honor. Coyote hunts are conducted by spot and stalk or blind over a bait pile. Cabin accommodations are provided.

Waterfowl Hunts Goose & Ducks

Our waterfowl hunts as they are extremely fun with lots of action! Our hunting area is located on a migratory flight path. Thousands of birds in the spring and fall feed and rest in this area as they migrate. Wandering River region is rich with farmland that is continuously planted with peas, barley, oats making it an attractant for the birds. There are several lakes in the region thus making a shoreline blind hunt a viable hunting option. The most important point is that we have access to numerous farm fields and lakes in short to make your waterfowl hunt successful.

Hunts are conducted with blinds. All blinds are easily accessible and have enough room for 2 hunters.
