Many Discounted Animals

DISCOUNTED PRICING AVAILABLE AS ANIMALS ARE AVAILABLE

Hunt with the best and don't worry about the rest, we have it all from Hogs, Turkey and Doves to Blacktail Deer, Elk and Buffalo along with everything in between. I apologize that we book up so quickly and many times we have deer hunt booked out a year in advance, but we do offer a $ 200 security deposit that confirms that you will hunt blacktail next year, but if there is a cancellation you are the first one to be offered that hunt. We have multiple ranches that allow us the luxury to manage each ranch to a different level of quality and type of game animals.

Featuring over 250,000 acres of prime hunting ground where you can choose from California wild pig hunts, California buffalo hunts, water buffalo hunts, exotics, California deer hunts, Aoudad hunts, pheasant and chukar hunts, upland game hunts, turkey and varmint hunts. Hunt with us on the Central Coast of California and we guarantee you'll be back for more. We have multiple properties to offer. Some habitat is better for one animal than another so we have multiple properties in the state of California for you to hunt on that provide the best habitat in the state for the game you are after. Where are these properties located? All I can say is that they are all in the wonderful state of California, and visit, bring you rifle or shotgun and I will show you the time of your life. The California hunt is on!

It has been effective since July 1, 2008, the California Fish and Game Commission modified the methods of take to prohibit the use of projectiles containing lead when hunting big game and nongame species in an area designated as the California condor range. For a list of certified nonlead ammunition, click here. <https://www.wildlife.ca.gov/Hunting/Nonlead-Ammunition/Certified>

We have some ammunition for sale check before you come. We have a rifle range and even running targets to brush up your shooting skills.

We also have the Private Land Hunt available with a limited number available. As you can see we have multiple options for the California hunter that like to hunt and take something home which taking something home is not that common in other parts of California anymore because of the extreme hunting pressure on public land from hunting. I assure you with s you will be hunting private land, that is managed to produce balanced healthy herd and flocks of game and birds.

California Prized Tule Elk

© Copyright Discounted Hunting Adventures llc

For those going after their elk Grand Slam your slam can't be complete without this unique Grand elk. This is the one that 99% of the Grand Slammer don't have which just gives them a slam. Any Tule Elk is a trophy but in 2017 we took a 308-inch gross bull, which is considered huge in the Tule Elk world. I can't promise that size, but we will promise to put you on the biggest bull possible at a fair shooting range.

Tule Elk Hunts are very limited but for 2018 I have 1 or 2 hunts scheduled that I can get Discount prices, The normal prices for these hunts is over $ 22,000.

I can get 1 or 2 for the discounted price of only $ 17950. It requires a deposit of 50% to book with the balance due 45 days before your hunt. A special off is to lock it in with only $1000 down if put down in 2017. The balance of the deposit isn't due until January 1st. The security deposit and the hunt deposit are both non-refundable.

You can hunt and shoot a Tule Bull with us without the necessity of drawing a California Tule Elk license. In addition to our PLM program, we also partner with private land owners within the La Panza zone area. Clients who drew a state tag within the La Panza zone can book a hunt on private land with us as well. Call for pricing since we have multiple ranches we work with. Many times, the Hunting License is what prevents most elk hunters from hunting their prized Tuley. We make the dream a memory to remember and to add to your big Game and Elk collection.

Each morning you will have breakfast then head out in a 4x4 vehicle for the elk. The private ranch you will be hunting is well known to your guide, probably better than their own back yard.

You will be riding and glassing the southern California hills looking for these beauties. First light you will be checking the food sources, open or small meadows with grass that is still green or forbes growing at the edges of these meadows, they will then bed down where they have thermal temperature control. If it is a chilly morning they will bed where the sun can hit them and warm there heat absorbent outer hide and collect Chlorophyll for their bodies to produce vitamin C. Of course, radiant California sun can add 10 degrees to the "felt" temperature.

If it is windy they will look for a place to bed out of the wind again temperature control, and so they can better hear approaching danger. Wind also acts as a coolant to the air on the elk. It may be 30 degrees but with wind chill it feels like 20 degrees.

If they are spooky they will head for thicker cover where their ears and nose give them the advantage. Here they can be difficult to locate and pattern because without our advantage of binoculars we are limited in our locating elk strength with binoculars.

These early hunts will be warm and with the hide of elk being so warm most days they will head for shade for the day.

In the afternoon after digesting what they ate for breakfast and the warm temperatures they will head for water directly or quickly feed that way. This is a good place for an afternoon ambush. Your guide knows all the water sources. Their favorites are water sources in cover because they feel threatened when drinking. If there are no water sources with cover they will go where ever they can get water it is a must. The movement also enhances your ability to locate them. A search of the ground around the water holes will show if it is an active water source and if they used it the prior afternoon. If they did and have not been disturbed they will be there the next day. Elk drink 10-15 gallons of water per day. This includes always in the afternoon and on hot days they will hit the water hole before bedding for the day.

The time of the year is important because while the velvet is still on the rule is they will be in bachelor herds, after the velvet comes off in September they will be splitting up and building harems.

At the water holes and places, you see tracks you can tell the bachelor herds of bull from the cows and calves. The bull herd tracks will all be around the same size, mature elk. If it is a cow calf herd you will see full size mature cow tracks but watch for the telltale small tracks of the calves. The cow calf herds always drink in the morning and afternoon at least because of the smaller food and water capacity of the calves.

Your guide with his knowledge of the habitat and pre-scouting will be able to hone these areas and times to a finer point but these are good rules to hunt by.

Of course, we are hunting in a lead-free bullet zone so your ammunition must be lead free. For the first time, we will even do these hunts when the velvet is full on the antlers and not peeling so that your trophy's antlers will be in full velvet which is an even better trophy very seldom seen in the trophy Tuley Elk trophies.

The Guide will field dress and skin your elk then we have a complimentary delivery to a local butcher.

This is a hunt that is fully guided, 1 on 1 guide with hunter along with meals and lodging included for up to 5 days. You will be hunting early in the 2018 Season and be able to hunt August and September when the bulls and their antlers in velvet are at their prime. If you do want one without velvet we can hunt September after it has been rubbed off the antlers.

The tule elk is a subspecies of elk found only in California, ranging from the grasslands and marshlands of the Central Valley to the grassy hills on the coast. The bulls average 440 – 550 pounds, while the cows are 370 – 430 pounds. The Tule is considered the smallest of the wapiti in North America, the tule elk were the dominant large ungulate in California prior to the arrival of the Spanish.

The elk subspecies that we recognize today are the Rocky Mountain elk, Roosevelt elk, Tule elk and the lesser followed Manitoban elk, of Canada. The two others are the Eastern elk, and the Merriam's elk in Mississippi and Southwest United States which are now extinct.

Conservation and herd management along with disease studies on elk have made the herds much stronger today with the population of Rocky Mountain Elk being over 450,000 in Colorado alone.

Aoudad hunts include up to two days of hunting by foot or truck/off road vehicle, field dressing of game and complimentary delivery to a local butcher. The aoudads are a free ranging herd that moves along the coastal ranches, so they come and go very quickly. Hunters who are interested in an aoudad hunt would go on a call list and would be called when they are on the ranch. Due to the movement of the herd, often there is a 1-2 day notice for the hunt. The hunt is worth the short notice and the aoudads are in very high demand. Aoudad hunts operate year-round. Lodging and meals are not included. See "Lodging" for accommodations.

California Wild Pig Hunts

We offer a free-range pig hunt with access to 21 different ranches and over 250,000 acres of private land. With so many properties we move the hunting pressure to where the hogs are the most plentiful. The varying terrain includes brushy canyons, rolling grain fields, open flats and oak hillsides. The wild pigs are plentiful and are prime meat pigs due to the various food sources in the area. An average pig weighs 150 lbs. Our two-day wild pig hunt is up to two days of hunting, but due to the large pig numbers, as well as the experience and knowledge of our guides, a lot of our hunts are concluded on the first day. Our success rate is 98%. Practice shooting, shoot clean, shoot well, and enjoy your hunt. The big pigs are great for mounts the smaller ones are for roasting in your back yard with friends going over your hunting experience.

Buffalo hunts operate year round

A buffalo hunt includes up to two days of hunting, field dressing and skinning of game, and complimentary delivery to a local butcher and/or taxidermist if requested. Most of our hunts are concluded on the first day. The best time to come for shoulder mounts and hides is the first of November through the first of March. The meat is good year round. The buffalo on the ranch weigh between 700 and 2,000 lbs. The trophy bulls are classed and priced based on age, weight, and horn size. These animals are judged in the field by glossing. The expected meat yield from a buffalo will vary with the age and weight, amount of finish, and the way that the carcass is cut up. Average yield ranges from 20-40% of the live weight, but can vary. The yield is much better than that of any other animal even today's beef.

Lodging and meals are not included. See "Lodging" for accommodations.

Water Buffalo Hunts

Come experience a new side of exotic hunts and redefine big game hunting. The Asian Water Buffalo is a massive animal with great mount potential. The meat is lean and healthy and makes great steaks like our Bison or Buffalo that is so popular for mounting and eating. The skull and hide is very desirable as well. This rare animal would make a great addition to any game room. The water buffalo roam a massive landscape of rolling grasslands with native shrubs and natural water sources.
