

Luke and Garrett befriend Three Leaning Trees, the son of Nektosha Chief Black Stone. The three boys are off on many thrilling adventures. They see something sinister in the dark woods and explore a soaring tower on the banks of Cobblestone Island. The boys encounter a mysterious sighting on the lake, disappearing objects, and a curious chocolate-making machine. A ship holding loved ones is grounded during a harsh, snowy gale. Three Leaning Trees shows Luke and Garrett his father's beautiful black quartzite peace pipe. When the peace pipe is later needed for a special ceremony, it is found missing. It becomes a central object in teaching Luke patience. As events unfold, Luke comes to understand that his patience and Garrett's gentleness are two Fruit of the Spirit and special gifts from God meant for all "Children of the Light."

Based on the Fruit of the Spirit
Galatians 5: 22-23

See how each Fruit of the Spirit is discovered in the lives and adventures of the nine children of the Light. The third book in the series focuses on long-suffering (patience) and gentleness.

Nine kids. Nine gifts. Nine blessed.
