technology at work

CONNECTING YOUR BUSINESS TO TECHNOLOGY YOU NEED

Everyone knows Managing Emails and Documentation effectively has become a major necessity, in the workplace.

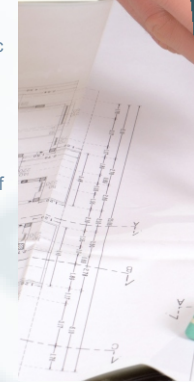

We provide you with a complete, integrated system addressing most of your day to day management tasks including email and document management, job costing and fees.

Standard Email Systems are not designed to manage Emails in a Project Environment, Solution Suppliers add-in to Microsoft Outlook

Standard software packages such as Microsoft Office, AutoCAD, Revit, Archicad etc do a fantastic job of creating documents, but they don't manage the document, all this needs to be done manually.

With Solution Documentation the whole concept of document management, organisation and quality assurance is simplified and centralised, giving access to corporate data quickly and efficiently.

The combined knowledge and experience of our staff enable us to provide a very professional service, which is highly respected in our industry.

client testimonial

Following the need to update our email and data management software to meet the changing needs of our business and evaluating the existing offerings on the market, we decided to invest in Solution as a relative new-comer.

We found that the personnel and the system for email management has been an easy integration and the opportunity to add wish list requests for future updates has meant that what could have been a difficult transition actually occurred over-night

Our next step is to move from our existing document management software to the new document management solution.

Successful data management is key to our practice with the need for a fully accessible system available to all.

Shirley Butler - Practice Manager.

our mission

TO PROVIDE A SUCCESSFUL STRATEGY ADDRESSING MOST OF YOUR DAY TO DAY TASKS

We integrate with our clients' companies, acting as part of their team while providing our own expertise, which would prove extremely hard to find elsewhere and very costly to permanently hire.

For further information or a product demonstration, please do not hesitate to contact us.
