Foreword

I thank my mother, Nileena, for all the encouragement, all the acknowledgement and all the appreciation that she has given to me in writing this book

The Storm
Emilia
Stuart

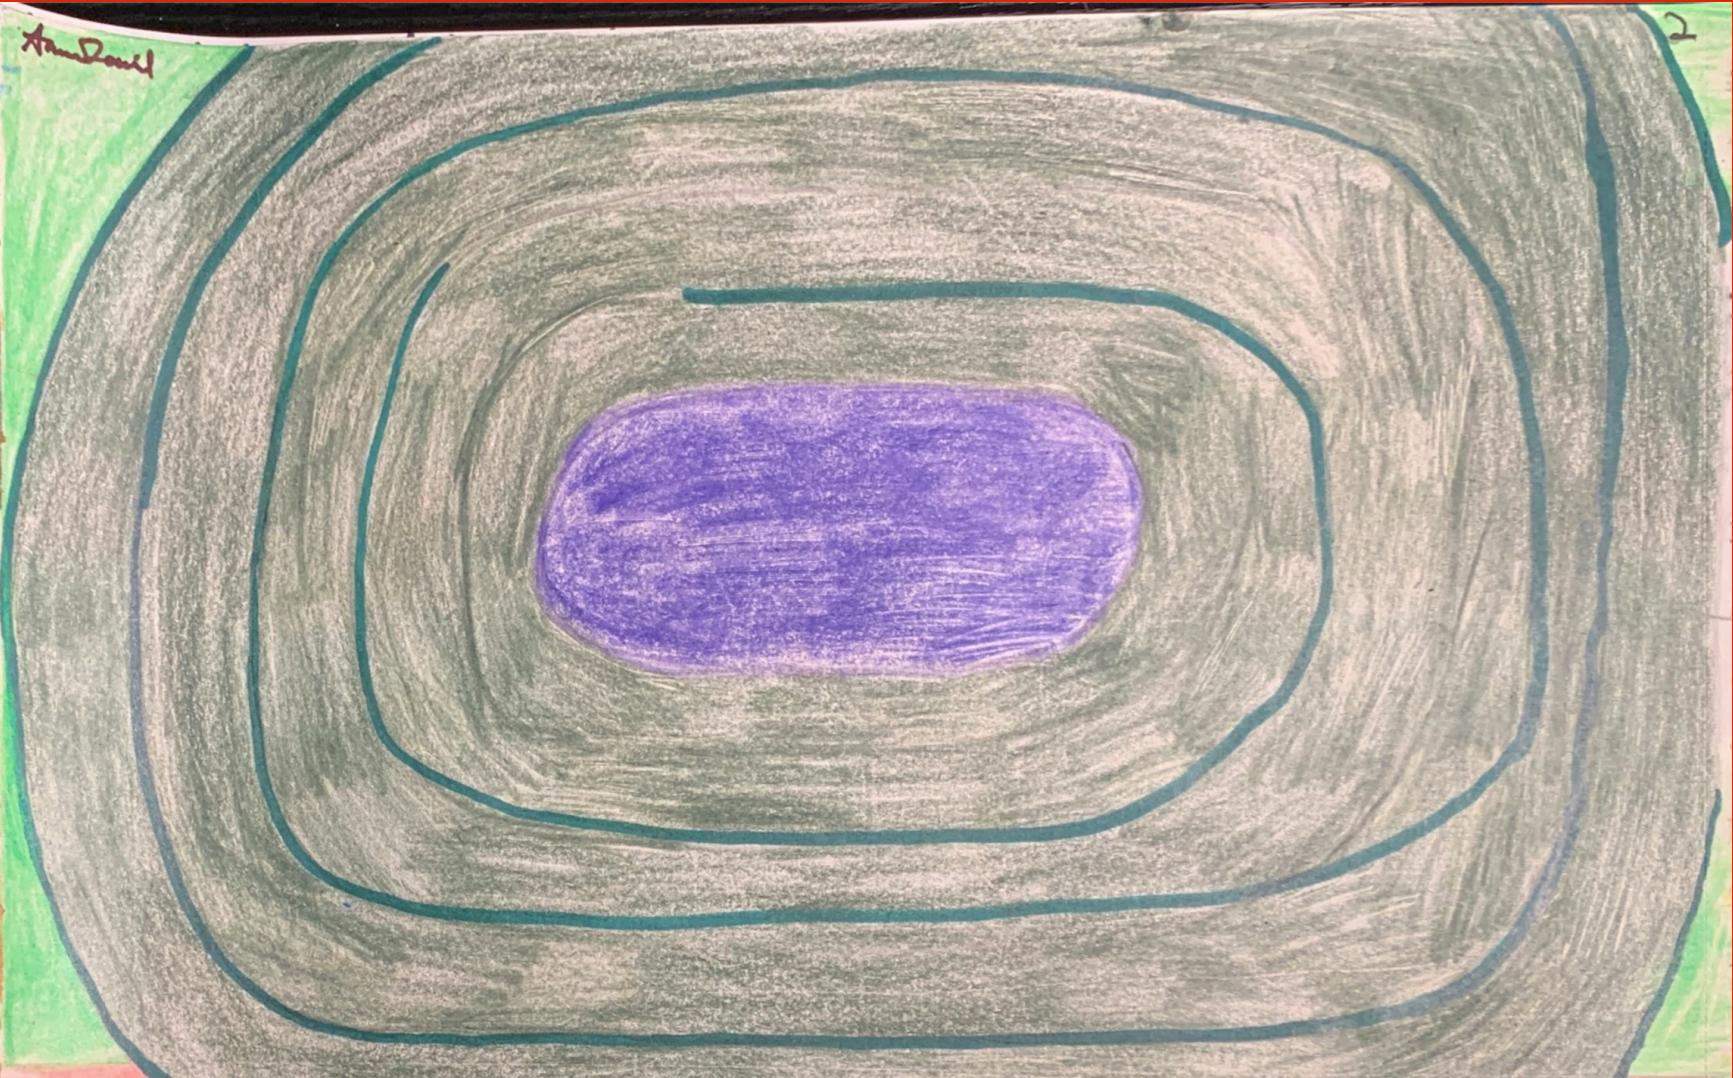

Handwritten cursive practice for the words 'The Storm', 'Emilia', and 'Stuart'. Each letter is written in purple ink and surrounded by multiple smaller, faint versions of the same letter in purple and red ink, demonstrating stroke order and letter formation. The background is a textured, light-colored paper.

Emily Mary Stuart was mocked and ridiculed in school all the time.

A drawing consisting of a central purple oval. This oval is surrounded by several concentric, irregular rings. The rings are filled with a greyish-green color and have dark green outlines. The overall effect is that of a target or a series of ripples. The drawing is done with colored pencils or crayons on a white background.

Emily was always looked down upon in her school classroom by her class mates because she was not good in sports.

So one day when Emily went home after school, she sat at the front porch of her house and thought what is she good at.

When Emily Mary Stuart was 20 years old she invited her grandma and to her dance school
