

Just a few steps, that's all it was, but those few steps seemed impossible. Sam couldn't imagine taking them.

"Just knock on the door, get it over and done with. We haven't travelled two hours, on three buses, just to stand out here on the street." said Alex.

"Easy for you to say." replied Sam, sadly. "You know your dad." "Here's your chance to know yours!" answered Alex, growing increasingly annoyed.

"I can't do it. We're going home." said Sam forcefully. He started to walk away.

The door opened. "Can I help you?" asked a man... It was Sam's dad.

1. Why do you think that those steps so difficult to take?
2. If you were Sam, what would you do? Why?
3. Why do you think Alex gets 'increasingly annoyed'?
4. What do you think Sam will do? Explain why.
5. Who do you think will reply? What will they say?

Be a detective.

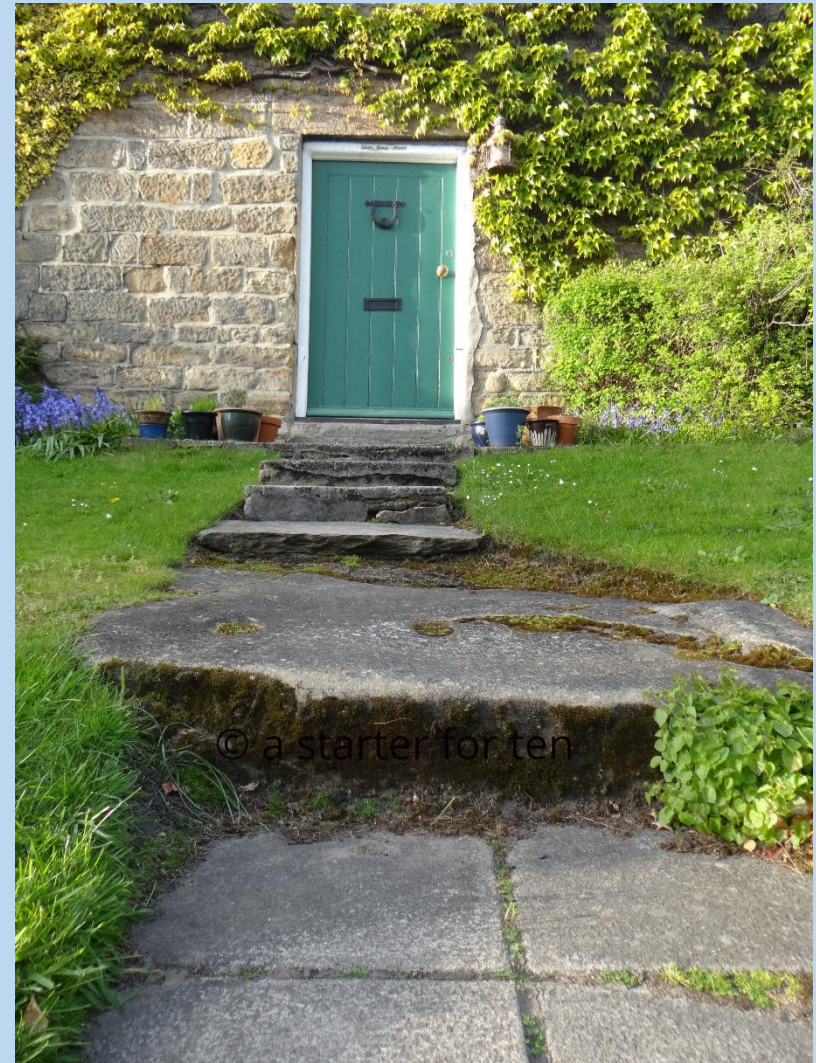

250,000 people go missing in the UK every year. What are some of the reasons they go missing?

What are some of the charities working to help to find missing people?

Centrepoin help young homeless people. What do they do to help?

A famous saying is 'a journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step.' Who said it? What does it mean?

© a starter for ten

A Starter for 10