

Caty felt the heat of the blast as it flew past her. Did they miss on purpose, or was this another lucky escape?

Since meeting Josie, life had become more lively, full of excitement and drama. Was she a blessing, or a curse?

There was no time to see just how many were hunting her down, only parents and the government were supposed to be able to track your location – so how had they found her? Josie?

The blast had created a hole in front of them, a perfect circle, Josie was already through and frantically beckoning Caty to follow.

A Starter for 10

1. When is this story set? Why do you think this?
2. Why might people be hunting Caty?
3. Why do you think that parents and the government track people?
4. How old do you think the girls are? What evidence can you find?
5. What kind of person is Josie? What evidence can you find?
6. Should Caty follow Josie? Why do you think this? What would you do?

Be a detective.

What is GPS? How does it work?

Explain why it is right, or wrong, to track people?

How do driverless vehicles work? Are they a positive thing? Give reasons for your answer.

In science fiction, lasers can destroy almost anything. What can lasers actually do?

Design a device that could catch criminals in the future. How would it work?