go to Market

Definition

The base for every good cooperation is a clear understanding of the targets. Together with the customer we define the project specifications and its gates. Individual goals and customer specific outputs are integrated into our process structure and interfaces are determined. This forms an optimized process landscape and achieves the highest possible performance during the entire duration.

Cooperation

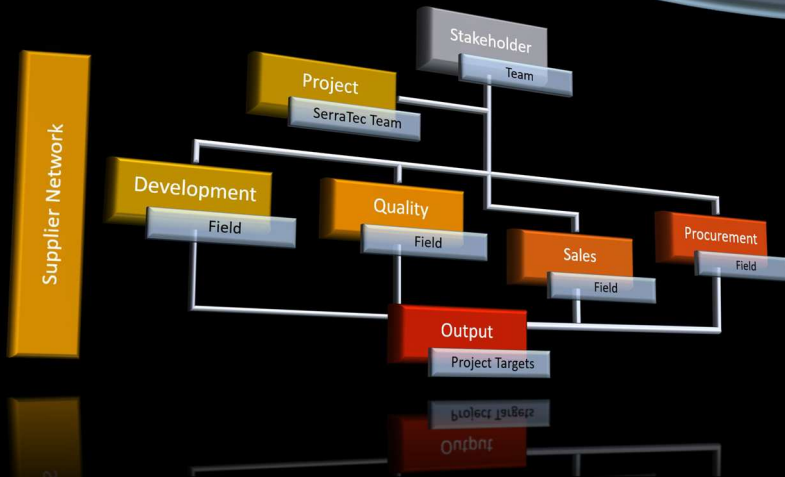

SerraTec carries a deeper understanding from the core. From creating the project landscape and the professional management of the project team to a strategic go-to-Market campaign. We work with the customer, the suppliers and all stakeholders involved. Targeting a successful cooperation in a successful running project.

We look on the progress and the communication of the whole project

Cooperation

SerraTec projects are designed for operating inside a well-organized communication landscape. The management is carried out via intelligent meeting architectures and decisions are made through structured online boards. This ensures efficient cooperation within a national and international project environment.

SerraTec works with a professional project process strategy. A clearly structured Phase-Gate model guarantees efficient progress inside the projects and with the project teams over the entire duration. Our project structures are hereby based on VDA and IATF standards in combination with the latest management methods and the best-practice from multiple OEM projects.

Duration

With us professional project management goes online.

SerraTec projects are designed for international structures and combine regular project tracking with the possibilities of our time. Whether process landscapes or meeting structures – We are Online. With greater effectiveness and shorter distances.

We raise Project Management to the next level.

Duration

SerraTec Teams work with advanced computer hardware systems.

Onsite with the customer. Onsite at the supplier. Online in their remote offices. Transparent. Efficient. Project orientated.

Our project structures are developed for operating in online environments. The file framework is based on Microsoft products and cover worldwide compatibility. Access is set up via a structured SharePoint network, which ensures efficient work between the entire team.

Development in Bangalore? Supplier management in Dubai? Production side in Poland?

Our project landscapes have the focus on effective processes and cooperation over country borders and time zones.
