Colorado Quick Picks Lives Here.

This outfitter caters to the DIY/ Semi-Guided hunter while using private land and affordable pricing. In today's world this is unique and extremely difficult to find because a rancher can make much larger profits by having a guide and increasing the price $ 1500-$ 2500 per hunter. This makes it beyond difficult to find any of these and this one fills extremely quick each season as the availability shows with many booking dates a year in advance.

With lots of land with deer and elk but some better for elk than deer and others better for deer than elk there is a great mixture here for the hunter.

As a definition of DIY and Semi guided look to the following:

DIY

DIY (Do It Yourself) is defined as going to the property with no guidance as to animals and their watering, Feeding and bedding areas.

Semi-Guided

Semi-Guided is defined as you are contacted at the property. The contact is the outfitter, guide, Landowner or other knowledgeable person that know the property and its intricate details. This person Provides you with the important property boundary lines, where the animals are watering, Feeding and bedding. Also, where they are normally seen. If there is a cabin or lodging, they will instruct on the use of the facilities and supply a cell or other phone number to call for any questions later. Different from Guided is that when Saturday morning comes you will be going out hunting without them.

In Truth we don't do DIY hunts although many people are familiar with the terms so we use it to difference from guided and we use the same pricing for DIY but we require the provider to meet our Semi-Guided requirements. We try to make it similar as if you came a week early for a day of "pre-scouting", which would not be possible because of the long distance our hunters travel for our successful hunts. We Don't DO ANY DIY HUNTS BECAUSE WE WANT TO MAKE THE HUNTERS NO MATTER WHAT THEIR SKILL AND GAME KNOWLEDGE IS AT THE TIME. WE WANT OUR HUNTERS TO BE SUCCESSFUL AND WANT TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO MAKE THAT HAPPEN. We provide that at a DIY Hunt price as a gesture of our commitment.

The Elk can be drawn any season for bull or cow. For deer there is a 60% of drawing with 0 points. In this case the outfitter has vouchers if needed and Discounted Hunts LLC (DiscountedHunts.Net) even has its Colorado Quick Picks Program that allows you to try for a license with a $20 registration fee, and only $100 if we get one for you. This is much better than paying $1500-$3000 for a Landowner voucher to be able to get as license.

These hunts are all semi-Guided. The exception is the river bottom property for deer which is guided due to the locations being so close to other private land. If you want to hunt deer also you may, if you need a voucher to buy a deer license, he has a couple of $ 2500 deer vouchers for only $ 995 to hunt this area only.

1st season is Either sex elk only

2nd season is elk bull or cow defined and deer with deer Vouchers available

3rd season is elk bull or cow defined and deer with deer Vouchers available

4th is Either sex elk In Lodge

2nd and 3rd season you may have a bull and cow or Buck Deer license (Buck uplift removed if you buy a Voucher) in your pocket so you can shoot both with only $ 500 upcharge for the hunt. The 2nd and 3rd season are 4-day hunts of a 9-day season. The day between the 1st half and the 2nd half is a transition day. The group in the hunt may hunt until 10:00 am but out of the property by noon. The 2nd half hunters arrive after 2 pm and can hunt that afternoon and for the duration of the season. For example, the first day is a Saturday with the first group hunting Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Morning.

The second group coming in Wednesday morning and hunting Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Kit is an enjoyable time to mention that the first season, in mod October some elk have moved in, and more so if a good snowstorm has pushed them in. Since we can't predict the weather the outfitter has decided to not book anyone for any hunt during the 1st and let the deer and even more so the elk density during that time and begin hunting on the 2nd season when he knows that elk are on the property no matter what the weather has been.

This works well in this area because during that time of the year deer and elk are local and others migrating from their summer range to their winter range. They may not be there 1 day, except for the locals and the migrants be there the next day. Weather is the key for elk movement and their exposure to hunters. Deer are migrating by the moon, so they are much more tied to the "Human Calendar." Keep in mind that deer migration will be accelerated or retarded by the immediate weather conditions to some degree.

In both animal's harsh weather requires them to leave their blue bird weather safety concealed area and move for food and migration. This GMU has hundreds of thousands of individual elk or deer so each one gauges the urgency for food shelter and migration. This habitat is good for them all year so they could be anywhere at any time. The above details the “Average animals” mindset. No one shoots the “Average animal” we all shoot the individual and his mindset may make him an easy target when another may feel the weather and time of the year don’t require the movement and related exposure to hunters. There is one thing that seems to be the standard rule is deer and elk hunting and this one you can take to the bank. The worse the weather the better the hunting provided you can cover the country to see these moving animals as much as possible or be on a position where you can cover moving animals. These areas in a prime migration corridor. This adds to the migration movement you will be seeing. I animal you see today may have been 5 miles away yesterday. Remember they can travel at night very easily if they feel it is needed. Many of your larger animals do this as a standard when the hunter pressure is on.

This has a lot to do with the more movement in the morning and evening. In addition, if they do travel at night their mid 24-hour calendar has the up and move some at around noon each day so you never know when they will show up. If the weather is bad enough, they can lay in one place for 12-24 hours. They have no schedule like us to get up every morning at 6 am to go to work. What it amounts to is they have about 3 months to travel around 50 miles from summer range to winter range. They can stay in the same area all day or move 5 miles in one day. The only thing guaranteed is that all 365 days of a year they must be somewhere. If that is where you are found, he comes home with you. If it isn’t, he may show up tomorrow.

Keep in mind that an ATV motor running around this and any area does spook elk and deer out of your area it is not a “Normal” noise except for during hunting season because we leave these areas alone as much as possible throughout the year. We recommend that you not bring one unless you use it just to retrieve down animals and use it during the mid-day to no lower the animal density in the area you hunt.

Colorado warm falls and lack of the traditional elk migration has changed a lot of hunters into looking for other options. The elk migration hunts require you wait at lower altitudes for the snow to push the elk down to the lower altitudes where the access is better, and the trees are fewer. Many of the place’s elk winter are treeless rolling sage brush hills with high elk concentration holding herds of 100 to 1000 elk is not unusual. The harvest rate skyrockets, and you can many times drive right up to the location that you put down your elk and after gutting 4-5 men can load it whole in the back of your truck. That is all great and worked for years as the norm for late season migration hunts.

All hunts are DIY/Semi guided on private land in this great wildlife areas. You arrive on the day before your hunt, then the outfitter or guide will show you area and give up all the tips and hints for success to hunt the area successfully and advise you of any fences or property line boundaries that you must be aware of during your hunt. In the hunts that you have private adjacent to national forest you are high on a string of mountains where the public land hunters will be pushing elk or deer to you but they seldom ever get to where you are located because of the distance uphill they would be forced to walk to get there. Elk and deer have an emergency mechanism that if they are spooked or followed, they will go up hill to elude their enemy. You are uphill from any public land hunters.

Now you know as much as I do after hunting both animals for over 50 years in multiple states with around 60 elk kills and twice that many deer kill. They are great animals with a great challenge, but remember each one is an individual, like you and me with their own mind set that determines their actions. There are many, many shot each year and their young are born to replace them. There population continues to grow each year and the odds of you seeing them improves every year. The better you are at hunting skills and the more time you spend in the field rather than in a bead or an arm chair the more successful you will be.

Detail for each of the Favored Hunts Numbers 1-4

#1 Colorado Elk Drop Camp with limited access, you will need your ATV.

There is a 2 tent and a small cooking building at the edge of 3000 acres of private, but you hunt the thousands of acres just above it. The elk travel in and out of the private land and into the national forest for rut, migration and just because they can. We call this a Drop camp because you ride in on an ATV to your camp, yours or ours. There is where you hunt for the 5 days. (Best for elk but there are Deer as well.)

Known as the Drive to Drop Camp no Horses involved, bring ATV.

There is a small cabin, but I have convinced the landowner to also put up a deluxe tent in a drop camp configuration, tent, cots and the like. The cabin has propane and water but is not big enough for the 3 of us and our gear. The ATV tent "Drop Camp" for 2-4 hunters supplies everything that the small cabin doesn't. 4-8 can also fit in this camp.)

This is a semi-guided hunt in that you will be taken to a pre-setup drop camp facility, with an 8x8 cabin that has propane, and water facilities. It is not big enough to be called lodging, so the tent is supplied for you sleeping and gear for up to 4 people. Non-hunting guests can come at a small fee if the lodging can be worked out. Your access is guaranteed by the same landowner from the low grounds via ATV side by side along with bringing down your elk. You can bring your own ATV if you would like to be more independent. Riding the ATV on the forest property is not recommended because of the spooking of the elk and deer and you would need an ATV allow available at the park's office in Grand Junction for national forest riding. You can ride on our private land without a permit. All hunting you will be doing without a guide, but the guide will supply hunt details to use at your own discretion
This Hunt is $3300 Discounted Down to only..... $1795

#2 Mule Deer Haven areas with high Deer Populations

There is a Deer Haven hunt that provides a couple of thousands of acres of Oak Brush, Mountain hayfield, plus multiple of river bottom properties with alfalfa along with some deep draws with cedars hiding deer. (Best for Deer but there are elk as well.)

The hunt is a 5 day for the 1st and second season and 2nd and 3rd are 4-day hunts with the available of a first half and a second half of those season hunts. On the 4th season there are deer licenses available to draw but no vouchers available to allow you to by-pass the drawing. Last year a 193 Buck Deer was taken on this ranch.

Hunting mainly Mule Deer of his private and leased private land in the general area. Bucks can get big here and last year a little lady with a big rifle dropped a buck over 190" with one shot in the cedar canyons. Meals and lodging are included in this hunt and it is semi-guided but once you leave the ranch for his other leased property the hunt is guided.

Many mornings you will hit the leases alfalfa fields in the area, and in the afternoon sit on good Mule Deer feeding areas as the bucks arrive in the evening.

#3 A Frame Lodge in the middle of 3000 private acres

This outfitter has 3000 acre mountain bowl with Elk and A Frame Lodge discounted for the 4th season Only. There is a requirement of 4 or more hunters on this lodge hunt. This discounted pricing is only available durring the 4th season, a 5 day hunt. The elk migrate down into this bowl then later down into the low grounds. See Pictures of the Lodge.

#4 A Gentleman's Estate Hunt for Bull or Cow elk. The prices have been discounted to make them possible to the working man. Guests can also come with you for $100 since your hunt includes Meals and lodging, along with it being guided. On this hunt you will be the only one hunting the ranch, select whatever elk you wish to take home with you.

People ask me, "How much is it to shoot a cow elk for meat on a guaranteed fill hunt?"

You come out about $800 ahead at the end of the day! Read on if you are interested.

We guarantee you will take home an elk and we will guide, supply meals and lodging at this breakneck price. Don't worry about season dates, Hunt archer, Muzzleloader rut September with you 30.06. Take home the best elk you have ever eaten. You will work for it, but you will take one home. Season is September 1- January 31. Don't pay the $650 Colorado Bull Elk License or the $500 Cow elk license let us pay it.

Because it is an estate hunt you WILL NOT have to pay the State of Colorado the $500 for a cow or the $650 for their licenses.

The Ranch covers and licenses and receipt for transportation of the elk. This is a large savings in itself.

This makes the Cow hunt and accessories $1195 with meals and lodging, along with 1 on 1 Guiding at the end of the day and the Bull begin at $3850, and with this you are going home with an elk.

All Estate Elk are subject to availability.

If you find a better deal than this, you tell me, and I will go there with you!!

Welcome to the Estate Hunt in the western atmosphere that you will enjoy. This elk hunt is much like the Traditional Elk Hunt for Bulls or cows at different prices of course. I only have 6 cows and 6 bulls to offer for a limited time and is found south of Grand Junction Colorado off I-70.

It is a 3-day hunt with meals and lodging. A great Western Colorado Ranch atmosphere and luxury. There are nice bunk houses for everyone, to sleep and stay warm. All meals are at the main ranch house with great food.

This also has bulls at a reasonable price as well. So, you can shoot either or both. The cows with a 3-day hunt, with meals and lodging are only $ 2500 discounted down to only $1795

The bulls begin at $ 6800 and have been discounted down to only..... $4795

Bring your group of elk hunters and they will go home as their new label s” Successful Hunters.”

The best way to hunt them is to have one hunter sit in a blind by a travel corridor while the guide takes the other one and the guide do spot and stalk for a shot at the same time. Their movement is enough to get the elk to move through the corridor to the one that is in the blind. I only have 6 to work with so I wasn’t going to do any advertising just give them to friends would be enough to take them all.

Pricing Comparative Breakdown for your Wife.

You can normally end up paying $1795 for a guided cow elk hunt and still be required to buy a $500 Colorado Cow elk license, all with no guarantee you will be taking back anything except for tired feet, and a bruised ego.

The 3 days motel lodging would cost you $180 plus 9% tax. Estimate $200

The 2 meals per day about $40 per day x 3= $120

Plus, travel back and forth to Grand Junction about 1 hour each way is 6 hours a $.25 per mile= $90

This $ 410 is all covered in you hunt package which would make the elk hunt only $ 1385

What is the value of what you take home to your wife, she knows the cost of meat in the grocery store? Ground Round is easily $ 4.00 per pound. So, $ 4.00 x 400 pounds = $ 1600.00 and you only paid $ 1385 and had a great successful hunting vacation.

Because it is an estate hunt you WILL NOT have to pay the State of Colorado the $500 for a cow or the $670 for their licenses. The Ranch covers and licenses and receipt for transportation of the elk. This is a large savings in itself.

This makes the Cow hunt and accessories $1195 with meals and lodging, along with 1 on 1 Guiding at the end of the day and the Bull begin at $3850, and with this you are going home with an elk. All Estate Elk are subject to availability.

Do the same match you may end up putting $1000 to $2000 extra, but you will have a great rack on the wall and as much as 500 pounds of red ground beef. Actual, it goes a little bit farther than 800 or 100 pounds of red meat, which is 85% and then you add 15% beef fat to supply your familiar beef flavor and some moisture when it is cooking. So you can call the 800 pounds of meat at 85% lean, plus add 15% beef fat for another 120 pounds of finished hamburger now you have 920 pounds of hamburger from a cow elk you were $800 ahead add another $360 to the plus for your side in meat yield.

This is lean hamburger as "Ground Round. If you like your hamburger juicer more beef fat can be added to the meat for a finished product called ground chuck, or even more fat, ground beef, which even has a higher meat yield. (Beef fat is extremely cheap. The best fate to use is what they call "Kidney Suet.") This is solid fat that is hard like the edges of a steak, so it grinds well instead of mashing like brisket fat.

Now that you have done all this calculating just think you will have NY, T-bone, Fillet, Sirloin, Rib Steaks, Rib Eye steaks for example. Look at your grocery or butcher shop and these cuts which every elk has run between $14 a pound for T-Bone (Back Straps) or even $20 a pound for a Fillet Steak (inside body cavity Tenderloin).

If you are surprised with these meat prices today, ask your wife, she lives with them every time she goes shopping. Now you understand why many American eat Macaroni and Cheese every night and on a special occasion cut up some hot dogs in it.

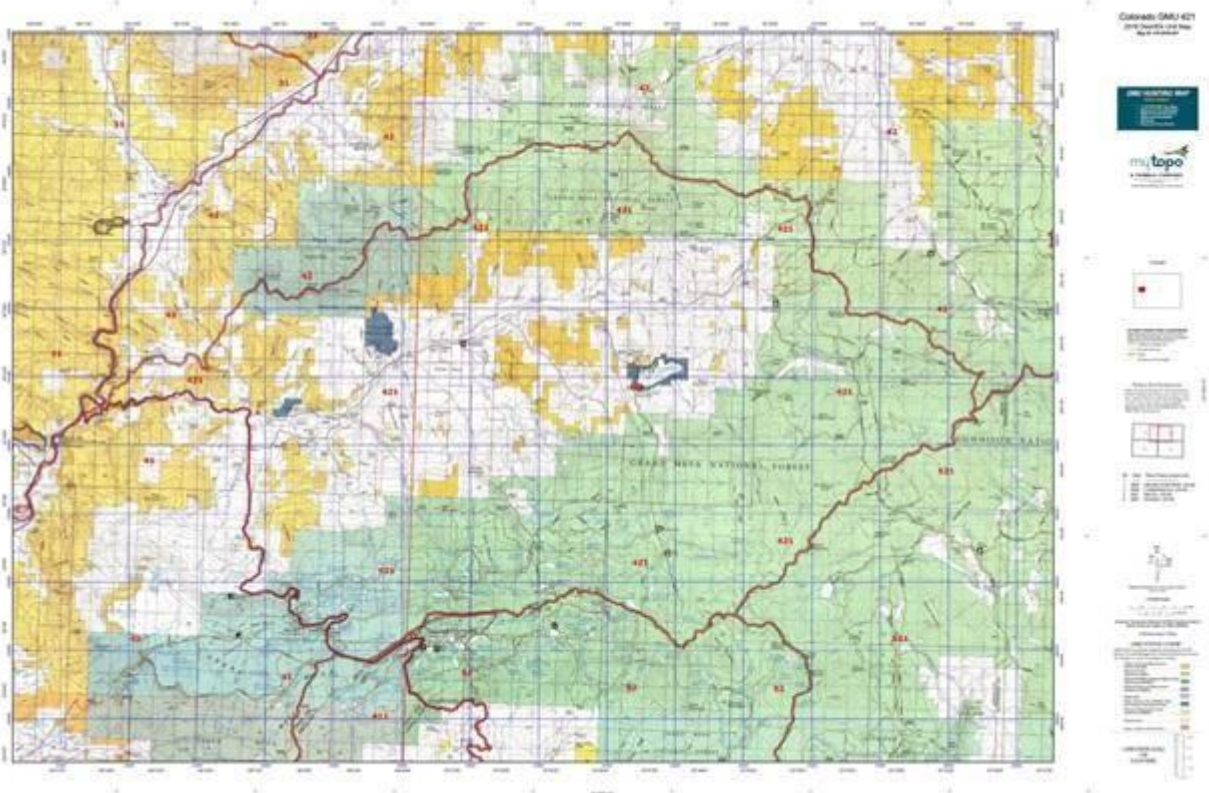

Hunter success is extremely important to me. All rear around I handle the properties in a way to enhance and increase the property quality to increase the habitat to attractive value like no other so that it pulls as many animals as possible to where you are hunting. For 50 plus years my ranch and leased properties found it in Colorado's GMU421 in and area around Colburn Colorado is the perfect match to hold local animals and absorb the animal from the large migration pool of animals moving from summer to winter range.

This area is well known for its elk and deer population and quality. Because of this it has a reputation for bucks and bulls alike. The only access is from the bottom of the mountain and you must cross private land to get there. This is good to keep the competition from being in my area and trying to find a big bull with a low IQ in my area.

I wish you good luck whether you hunt with us or someone else this year.

Animal Quality and Success Rate

You will be hunting in GMU421. The Colorado Parks and Wildlife lumps that all together with GMU041. It also doesn't defecate between the private land hunting and the public land hunting success. Because private land and the public area next to large tracts of public land has a much higher success rate. Because of that they can't give correct success rates for where you are hunting except watering everything down by adding the considerable number of hunters on public ground, that are down at the bottom of the mountain that is very much over hunted. Although we like what they provide us by shooting very few and pushing them up to where you are, but the long climb prevents them from following the deer and elk. This provides us with an even higher animal density which in turn increases our success and success rate. We do try to provide you with as much information as it reflects what is on this large ranch and other private land we have and hunt. The bottom line is our hunters are extraordinarily successful every year and our return Clientele rate confirms it. The only problem is because it is so high, we only have a few openings each year because the rule is return clientele has the first rights to hunt with us the following years. Hunt with us once and you will be back.

Hunt does not include: Licenses, food, guiding, field care of game, game pack out except from Cabin area.

Additional options: Extra days are available for the 2nd, 3, archery and muzzleloader seasons but the 1st and 4th are only 5 days long. The price is prorated from the total of 5 days divided by 5 for a daily cost.

Notes: You can bring ATV's to get up through the private land or the landowner will take you up in there on his. Bringing your own is recommended but not required.

Recommendations:

This is not recommended for the 1st time elk hunters. It is terrific elk hunting country but you will need to hunt without guidance on elk that may be 4-8 years old. Because of the location any size bull is possible since elk pass through this area daily 9 months out of the year from many other areas.

It's time to hunt Exotics! This is a year around activity. Archery, Rifle or Muzzleloader we have a 1000 acre enclosure that houses the mature animals which are extremely keen because of their age so it is not, "shooting a cow in the field."

The scrub oak brush and aspen cover make this hunt a challenge and your trophy a masterpiece. The average hunt is an 8-hour day. This is also a good way to start a new shooter because of the ranch living experience along with a hunt that help them realize that even though they have a rifle or a bow they will need to work for the animal of their choice. This is perfect for a weekend hunt outside of the big game seasons with warm weather because 1000 acres is almost 1 mile by 1 mile of area on a hill side and covered with animal cover.

We supply excellent trophies at an affordable price, hunting for exotics such as: hogs, Catalina Goat, Spanish Goat, White Fallow Deer, Chocolate Fallow Deer, Spotted Fallow Deer, White Ram, Barbado Ram, Black Barbado Ram, Painted Desert Ram and Merino Ram. You can also make this an added hunt after you bag your elk or deer.

The greatest reservation a hunter has about a game ranch is the "fair chase" concept. Is it sporting to hunt game on a fenced ranch? I would say that, if the fence precluded the escape of the animal, it is not "fair chase". The biologists say that a whitetail will die within one mile of where it is born. It is fenced by that very nature. No one would doubt, however, that the hunt for a whitetail is fair chase.

Having been to Africa on many occasions, I have always been amazed at the tameness of several species of African game. Does this mean that the hunter should not hunt African game, or a Fallow deer in Pennsylvania, Texas, or Colorado? On the other hand, exotics on a game ranch can be as tough to take as a Bighorn sheep in the mountains of Colorado.

The next item to contemplate is the time you will have to spend away from work. While this is not a major obstacle to some, others have but a limited time. We are only a 4-5-hour drive from both, Denver and Salt Lake City. Hunt price includes two-night lodging, meals, guide and license.

Guides – At least one guide will go with you on the hunt. His interest is to make your hunt a complete success. He will field dress game and pack it back to the lodge where he will skin and quarter it, free of charge.

Hunt price includes two nights stay in our comfortable cabins

Third night stay is $50/person

Check-in time is 4:00 pm the day before the hunt

Meals – Three home cooked meals served daily

If necessary, to reschedule, deposit will be honored for one year.

Non-hunter fee is $100.00 per hunt
