

Hunt ID: 5111-CO-G-M-1500-104-Antelope-WA3KIO-OOE-SHJ2O-100% Success Nice Antelope

You want to hunt antelope but don't have a license, this one has a Voucher available for instead of $ 1000 like others it is only $500 if needed and as long as they last, very limited though.

Come and hunt the famous Colorado eastern Plains for the where these antelope have a smorgasbord of Alfalfa, CRP, green Winter Wheat, and use it to build great horns. Most antelope run in the mid 70's consistently and a strong 14 inches but with 300,000 acres in GMU099, GMU104 and GMU105 there glare a lot of antelope to look over and decide which is the biggest. The hunt takes place out of Parker Colorado where the hunter handles his own meals and lodging during this 3-day hunt.

The hunt is a low impact hunt driving and glassing, then when you see one that is pushing 80 the spotting scope comes out, a steady rest on the truck window, and a finer visual measurement is taken. If the but makes the cut the next step it to figure out how to get as close as possible to the matriarch of the plains in the flat country. This is where hi-power 8 sight and 300-degree visibility that they cover makes him extremely difficult to sneak up on without a diversion. Even though he can run like a speeding bullet he knows he is not bullet proof so his desire is to stay out of range of any bullet that is chasing him.

Here is where a flat shooting rifle comes in because no matter how close you can walk and belly crawl to him it is never to close to hit that 15" X 15" chest, with the cross wind blowing, and you know it will only be between the shot, and either he runs and you walk away or the time when he doesn't see his next birthday.

The rifle season begins every year around October 1st for rifle and required a license application be submitted to the Colorado Parks and wildlife before about April 3rd each year to draw the license.

If you are an archer the license is over the counter and the season is in August where you sit in a ground blind at a water hole waiting for the warm sun to dry the antelopes mount and send him walking cautiously toward your water hole that you are carefully guarding to keep anything with big horns away from.

The 3-day Guided Antelope hunt is $3000 discounted Down to only $ 1495. If you need a rifle season voucher they go for just $500 if they are available.
