Pastoral Letter

From Kingship to Kinship

In Genesis we get the impression that we humans rule the roost like Kings and Queens of old: 'Let us make mankind in our image, in our likeness, so that they may rule over the fish in the sea and the birds in the sky, over the livestock and all the wild animals, and over all the creatures that move along the ground.' This attitude has contributed to the rampant destruction of wildlife and the extinction of thousands of species.

Nowadays that Genesis text is more likely to be interpreted in sermons as meaning that we humans are stewards over creation. We are invited to see ourselves as God's gardeners, tending his garden of earthly delights. The trouble with the concept of stewardship is it takes no account of the inter-connection between humans and the rest of God's creation. It sees us as the managers of all other creatures with a tendency to manage their lives to our own sole advantage.

St Francis of Assisi had a better approach. He spoke of other non-human creatures as sister / brother. My husband Ed used a phrase of the American Hillbillies to express this concept – 'We's kin'. We are not in charge of creation, we are a part of creation ourselves, interdependent with it – with special responsibilities, under God, to love and care for our human and non-human sisters and brothers. Can we begin to think in terms of kinship instead of kingship? How do we fulfil that special responsibility for our kin?

We all have a personal sphere of influence, and we could use that influence. Each of us can also be a part of bigger campaigns that are working to redress environmental damage. As we read in 2 Timothy 1:6-8, 'For the spirit God gave us does not make us timid, but gives us power, love and self-discipline'. Can we rediscover the power we have to protect the world God loves? That often begins with prayer – and then deciding to take action with others. Maybe we could start on the path gaining an Eco Church Award for St Peter's – what we need for that is someone who loves number crunching and working with spreadsheets!

I end with part of an Easter Day prayer from the Methodist Church which talks of the sparks cast by God's love which dance and spread and burst forth with resurrection light. May we take that light out into God's Kingdom. May God's Kingdom come.

Gracious God,
We praise you for the light of new life
made possible through Jesus.
We praise you for the light of new life
that shone on the first witnesses of resurrection.
We praise you for the light of new life
that continues to shine in our hearts today.

We pray that the Easter light of life, hope and joy,
will live in us each day;
and that we will be bearers of that light
into the lives of others.
Amen.

News from St Michael's

What difference Does the Resurrection Make?

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE?

I recently came across a lesson plan for a year 6 class (not in Sussex), entitled 'What difference does the resurrection make to Christians?' The school had suggested some key content, which included the following:

- Christians use hymns and songs to help them to understand the meaning of their beliefs. The music and words can give comfort and hope.
- Christian's belief in the resurrection inspires them to face challenges and problems. It helps them to know that death is not the end but there is an after- life.

I wonder how well you think that captures the difference thar Jesus's resurrection makes.

The Gospel readings for our services in early April show the disciples trying to grasp what has happened, and responding to Jesus as he meets them behind closed doors. Thomas, who misses out on the first appearance, responds in worship on the second, 'My Lord and my God.'

This is an extraordinary thing for a Jewish person to say, for there is one God. In saying it Thomas is declaring that Jesus really is God's Son. Israel's God has become a human being, has died, and been marked out as who he is, in resurrection.

In Luke's account the disciples are initially terrified that Jesus is a ghost, until, at his invitation they feel his hands and feet, the flesh and blood of his resurrection body. This too is revolutionary, the general resurrection which some Jews believed would happen when God brought everything together at the end, had happened in the middle of history. Jesus is the first fruit, the guarantee of God's purpose for those who are in Jesus.

So, yes, there is a comfort in life's challenges and problems, but there is far more. The God who made the universe loves you, me, and all creation so much, that he comes himself to live, die and be raised into the life that he will share in the new age; the new age that has started in the mess of the current one, to be completed at the new creation.

This is news from, and for, St Michael's and St Peter's, and the whole world.

Blessings, Rev Carol

ALIVE

Is Jesus Alive?

Is Jesus Alive?

This is the question that Hope Together, The Bible Society and Kingsgate Church want to 'go viral' in the lead-up to Easter 2024 and they need churches and Christians everywhere to get involved.

One of the things that seemed to 'go viral' at the end of December was the horror of seeing Easter eggs in shops on Boxing Day. Maybe you were one of them? It's easy to assume that for most people Easter is just a time to consume copious amounts of chocolate and enjoy the fact that it is or is nearly spring! Who, after months of winter rain and cold, isn't ready to celebrate cute lambs, bunnies and baby chicks when it gets to the end of March?

However, the Talking Jesus research suggests that 45% of people in the UK do think that Jesus is alive and that he came back to life after he died on the cross. Surprised? You can check out the research for yourself www.talkingjesus.org.

Hope was surprised and decided to use it as a mission opportunity. To create a conversation and equip the church to ask the question, 'Is Jesus ALIVE?' Hope and their partners have produced a range of resources to take people on a journey as they explore the question for themselves www.hopetogether.org.uk/alive

On the ALIVE journey, participants will meet some of the people who met the alive Jesus and whose lives were changed as a result; people like Mary who experienced love, the disciples on the road to Emmaus who had hope restored to them, Thomas who needed peace, Peter who found freedom and Paul who was given a new purpose. Many people today are looking for the same things, love, hope, peace, freedom and purpose. The ALIVE resources aim to build a bridge between felt need now and what the ALIVE Jesus offers.

There are many ways to get involved, but the first step is to pray for your non-Christian friends and your community. To help spark the conversation you could chalk the streets where you live using Hope's ALIVE stencil.

Wouldn't it be amazing if over Easter weekend the streets of the UK shouted the question, ALIVE? There is a newspaper to give out to everyone in your community as well.

Churches could run the first ALIVE session on Easter day as an invitation event. The sessions are video, and discussion-based, designed for a church or small group setting. The idea is to use the other four ALIVE sessions in the weeks after Easter Sunday. The ALIVE book accompanies the series. Why not buy it, read it, and pass it on to non-Christian friends?

Young people have their own set of resources with videos made by young people for young people, along with small group discussions and youth group talk material. All of which are easy to pick up and use.

For families with children of primary school age, there are free downloadable Snack Sheets and I Spy Sheets. Why not invite friends for an after-school snack or walk, and use the sheets with them? With videos to watch via a QR code as well as things to think, chat about and do the sheets are easy and fun to share. The families' resources use the book, 'The Awesome Easter Surprise'. Why not buy it from The Bible Society and give it away to friends as part of your invitation?

You can find all the resources www.hopetogether.org.uk/alivecampaign

And purchase books, stencils and the ALIVE newspaper in the shop. www.hopetogether.org.uk/shop

So, be part of the conversation this Easter 2024 by asking the question, 'Is Jesus ALIVE?' You might be surprised at the journey God takes you on...and we'd love to hear about it! Contact us with your stories at office@hopetogether.org.uk

Belonging

The word 'belong' is often thought as being binary – you either belong or you don't. The word itself dates back to the 14th century, and comes from linking 'be' and 'longen'.

'Longen' means 'to properly relate to'. So belonging isn't just about membership. It isn't just about carrying a membership card. It is an active state of relating. And in matters of faith, we belong by being in relationship with Jesus, and in relationship with each other.

And we can take this further. We can deepen our belonging by strengthening our relationships. We do this through spending time with each other, and with God. We become family.

Of course, no two relationships within a family are quite the same. And in the same way, no two relationships with Jesus are the same either. This is definitely something to celebrate – there is unity in diversity. And the more we belong, the more we are uniquely ourselves!

And in our parish we are fortunate that we can belong in different ways – Time for God is the informal service in the Community Centre, starting at the same time as the Choral Eucharist in St Peter's itself. Both are members of the family. Both are ways we can be in relationship with God and each other.

In April, we begin with our usual All Age Service on the first Sunday of the month, where we celebrate birthdays and share good news with the children, before thinking about the theme for the day. Then, on each Sunday we celebrate God's love together in a variety of ways. If you haven't tried something like this before, why not come along and give us a go?

If you have come before, why not bring someone new?! We look forward to seeing you.

Who's Who and What do they do!

Servers at the Eucharist

The Chamber's dictionary (1998) tells us that the Eucharist is The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper with Bread and wine, and that Servers are used to present the elements of bread and wine in a specified way and bring it to the table.

In our churches where a Eucharist service is held a Team of people, called servers, support the clergy during the service, lead the procession of clergy and choir at the beginning of the service, and undertake the preparation and presentation of the bread and wine to the priest who then serves it to the congregation.

The team of servers includes the 'Acolytes' who carry the golden candlesticks, the Crucifer, who carries the large golden cross, and when incense is to be used in special services a Thurifer in the team prepares the equipment and maintains supplies during the service ensuring the incense circulates all important areas. The team works hard and has practise sessions as necessary to ensure they know what position in church they should be in at different points of the service. They also meet periodically with neighbouring Servers from Eastbourne, as well as having their own local team get- together's. Individuals can become a member of the National Servers' Guild and possess a membership medal once competent, which they can wear when a working member of the team. Each member starts with simple tasks initially and can work their way up to more senior roles as their experience grows.

Team members are required to wear black shoes for the service, and each person is provided with a White ALB made to fit them individually by the Vestry Sewing Guild.

It is a Happy Band of volunteers filling a flexible rota. One person is named as our MC and ensures the team is complete and functioning well at each service. As with many other volunteer groups they have recently sadly, lost several members for health reasons and therefore need to welcome new volunteers to join the team.

If you might be interested in joining us, please speak to Caroline in the Parish Office and she will pass your name to Mark the team Leader and he will contact you for an 'informal chat'

We look forward to perhaps seeing you join us. Thank you.

Sussex Wildlife Trust

The South Downs

by Michael Blencowe for Sussex Wildlife Trust

I love heading out at the weekends for a hike over the Downs - but 90 million years ago, this part of the planet wouldn't have been a safe place to be. I'd have been busy avoiding the teeth of hungry aquatic predators like the 10-metre-long Mosasaurs as I cruised through a shallow sea. But it would be much smaller, less fearsome prehistoric organisms that would shape Sussex. The calcium shells from microscopic marine algae slumped to the sea floor and millions of years of pressure and erosion moulded them into the curvaceous chalk hills that form the familiar foundations of the South Downs.

It only feels like yesterday (well, about 6,500 years ago) that we humans showed up and got to work. The wild Sussex woods were chopped down and eventually sheep grazing became the dominant activity on the cleared hills for many centuries. The sheep-nibbled short downland turf is an internationally rare habitat, rich in flowers and the creatures that depend on them.

And, as chalk downland is such a rare habitat, the species that live here are also uncommon. Our butterflies are a prime example. Species like the Grayling, Silver-spotted Skipper, Small Blue, Adonis Blue and Chalk Hill Blue are restricted to this special habitat.

But it's not just wildlife that benefits. Those porous chalk hills filter, store, and provide us with most of our water. They also offer loads of other free services from flood prevention to pollination and food production. The open countryside around Sussex also offers us immeasurable physical, mental and spiritual benefits. The South Downs were designated a National Park in 2011.

While writing this article, I discovered a letter penned in 1915 by the Lewes naturalist, W. E. Nicholson, expressing concern for the future of the South Downs around Lewes, and especially the rare Adonis Blue butterfly and scarce Forester Moth that live there. I'd like to think that Mr. Nicholson would be re-assured to know that, more than a century later, his beloved Lewes Downs, butterflies and moths are still just where he left them and all flourishing under the care of Sussex Wildlife Trust on their reserves at Malling Down and Southerham.

NEIGHBOURS BEING DIFFICULT?

Trees an issue or their plants a problem?

Have you got a 'mobile' fence situation
a 'shrinking' garden?

Is getting in and out of your place driving you dotty?

Why sit there worrying about what's coming next? You are not alone, many people have let us help them and we have years of experience dealing with upsetting and difficult situations.

Why not let us help?

Perhaps write a strong and decisive letter for you, and set things in motion to sort it out?
